

Innovations in Geographic Information Science (GIS) Retreat

Monday, February 8, 2010

CSU Lory Student Center North Ballroom, Noon – 3:00

Keynote Speaker: Jon Gottsegen, GIS Coordinator for the State of Colorado

Join us for a discussion of innovation in information science and technologies in geospatial science at CSU, and along Colorado's Front Range, aimed at bringing together faculty, students, and members of the Colorado community.

The retreat includes lunch, keynote talk, brief talks by CSU researchers and individuals from industry; registration is free, and required if you wish to eat lunch.

Information and registration at <http://istec.colostate.edu/GIS/>

Other speakers include:

Randy Boone, Natural Resources Ecology Laboratory (NREL)
John Gerhard, Finance and Real Estate
Jim Graham, Natural Resources Ecology Laboratory (NREL)
Rajiv Khosla, Soil and Crop Sciences
Jon Lang, Production Engineering
Ian Leinwand, Human Dimensions of Natural Resources

Michael Lefsky, Forest, Rangeland, Watershed Stewardship
Sophia Linn, Human Dimensions of Natural Resources
Kris Neese, New Century
Greg Newman, Natural Resources Ecology Laboratory (NREL)
Kelly Peters, GIS Alley
Royce Simpson, Larimer County